ESRI Australia Joins SSI Sustaining Partners Program

ESRI Australia today announced its partnership with the Spatial Sciences Institute (SSI), joining the industry body's Sustaining Partners Program as a Platinum Plus Partner.

As the first organisation to partner with SSI at the Platinum Plus level, the partnership identifies ESRI Australia as one of the country's leading location intelligence organisations.

"As long-term members of the Australian spatial industry, we are proud to partner with SSI at this level," said Brett Bundock, Managing Director of ESRI Australia. "We look forward to working in conjunction with SSI to continue to build the profile of our industry."

As a Platinum Plus Partner, ESRI Australia training courses and a number of events will be endorsed by SSI's certification program, providing attendees with the opportunity to earn Continuing Professional Development (CPD) program points. The partnership will also see ESRI Australia working more closely with the SSI Young Professionals group.

"The SSI welcomes ESRI Australia to our Sustaining Partners Program and we look forward to a long term relationship with ESRI Australia working together as partners to serve the needs of our members and the spatial information industry more broadly" said SSI CEO Dennis Puniard.
